

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus, system, method, and program for facilitating the design of electronic assemblies include transmitting a user interface application to a user over 5 a publicly-accessible global network. The user interface application is updated in response to electronic assembly design data entered by the user.